Philadelphia College Prep Roundtable's Impactful Work:

The Philadelphia College Prep Roundtable, with a history rooted in transforming educational outcomes, has been a driving force in the region. Over the years, we have tirelessly worked to provide invaluable support to students, particularly those from underprivileged backgrounds, to access higher education and achieve their academic dreams. Our commitment to educational equity has had a lasting impact, both regionally and nationally.

New Great Learning Grants:

The William Penn Foundation Great Learning Program has recently awarded 33 grants, totaling more than $6.6 million, to organizations dedicated to improving educational opportunities for children in low-income communities across Philadelphia. We are honored to be among the grantees selected for our ongoing efforts to advance our mission and create a lasting impact.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to the William Penn Foundation for their unwavering support of our organization and its initiatives. Their investment enables us to continue our vital work in bridging educational gaps, empowering students, and transforming lives.

As we move forward, we are excited about the opportunities this grant affords us to amplify our impact, reach more students, and further our mission of educational equity. We remain committed to building a brighter future for Philadelphia's youth and working towards a more inclusive and equitable education system.
